

Tim Briglin is a partner at Tuckerman Capital, which he co-founded in 2001. His firm invests in and advises small manufacturing companies. Prior to starting Tuckerman, Mr. Briglin worked in the corporate finance group at Morgan Stanley and as a partner at Green Mountain Partners. Previously he was a legislative assistant to Senator Patrick Leahy covering economic, tax, and banking issues. Mr. Briglin serves as a director of Mascoma Savings Bank and as a member of Vital Communities Corporate Council, the Governor's Business Advisory Council on Health Care Financing, the Board of Overseers of Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center, the Executive Committee of the Vermont Democratic Party, and the board of Vermont Parks Forever. Mr. Briglin is a former trustee and President of Thetford Academy. He graduated from Cornell University and Stanford's Graduate School of Business.